

ATHENAEUM '75

and in the beginning

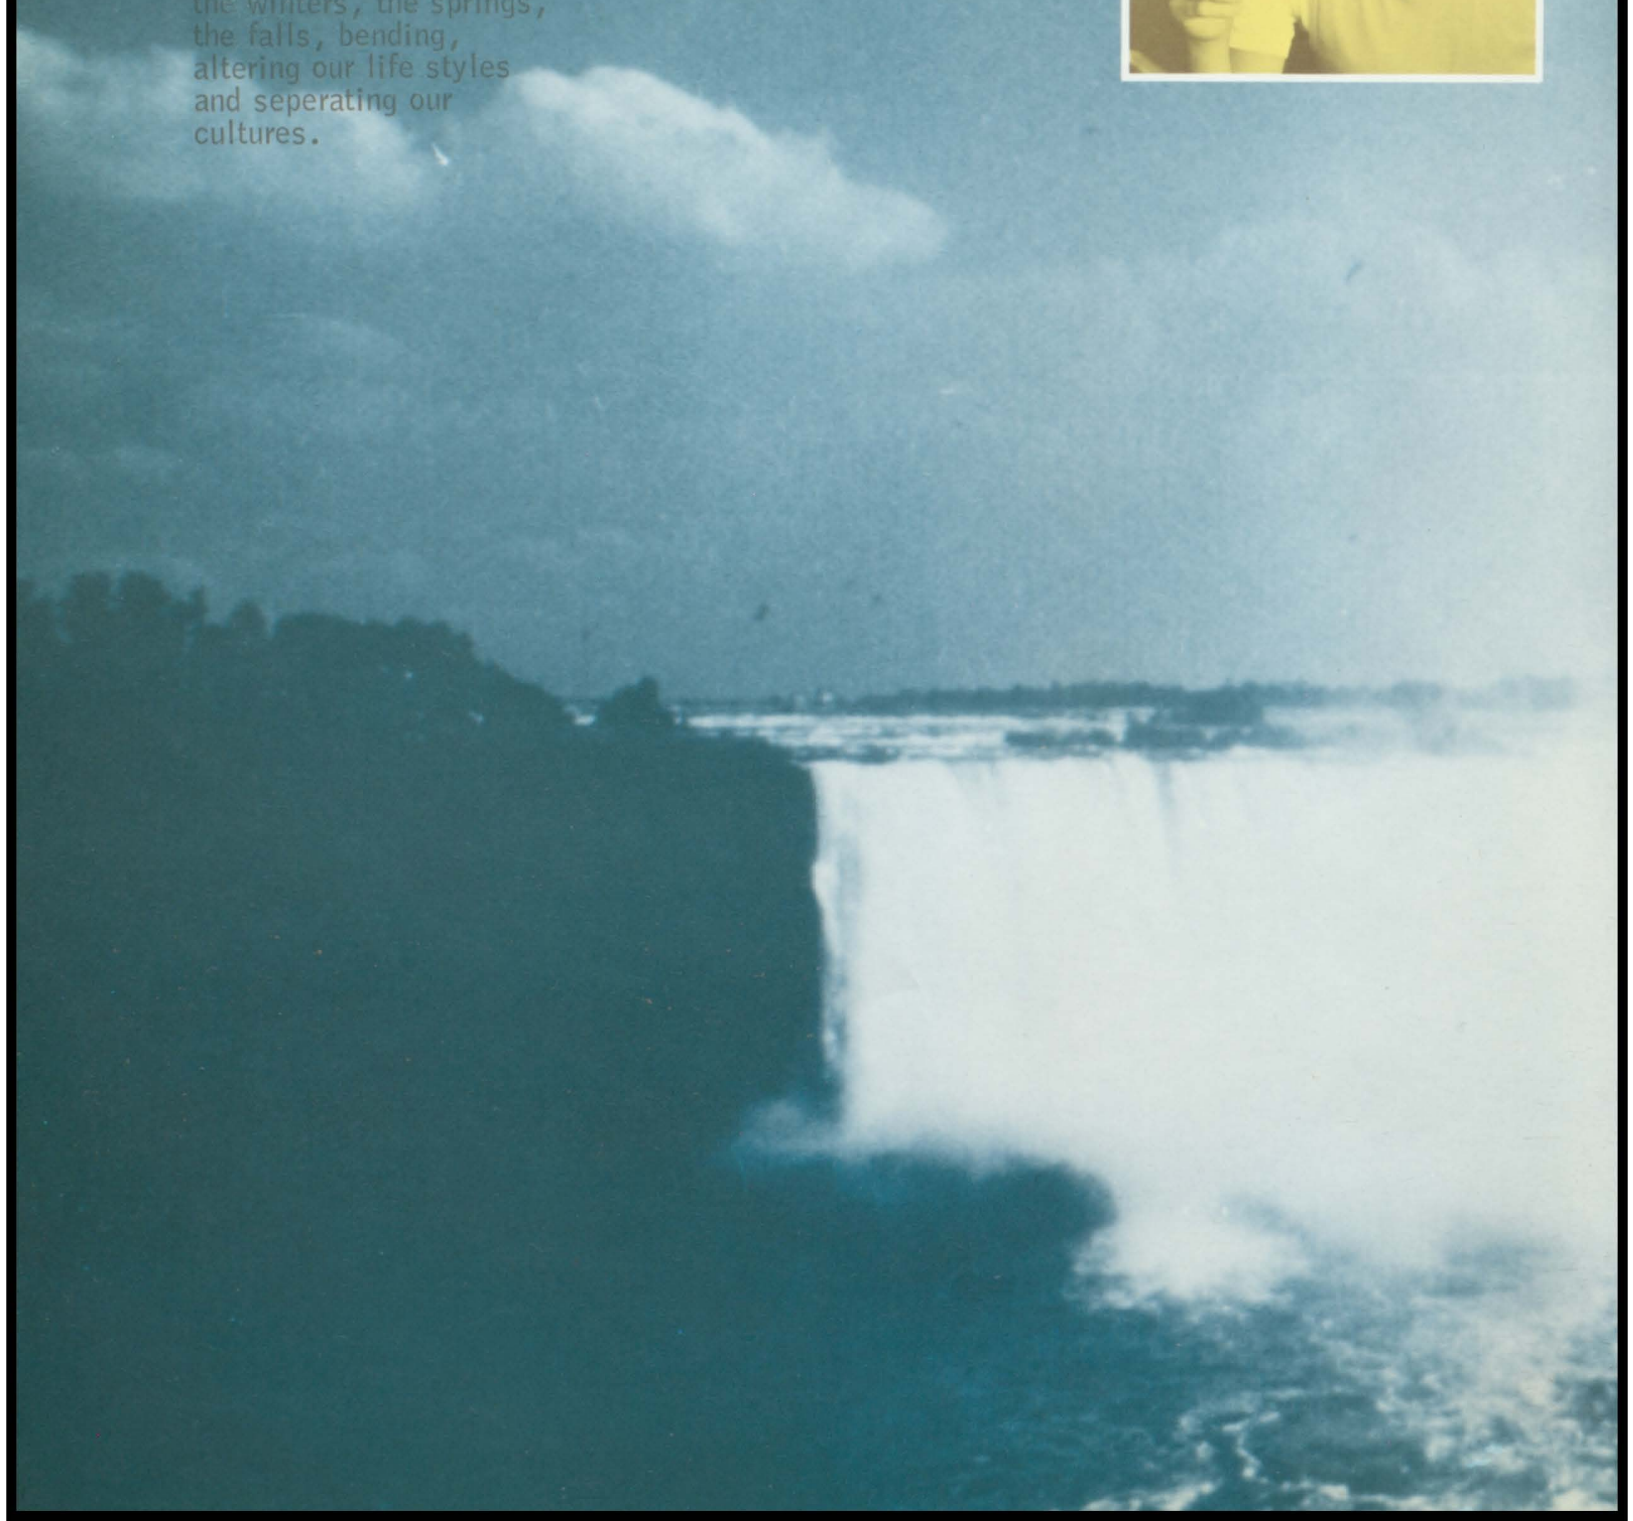

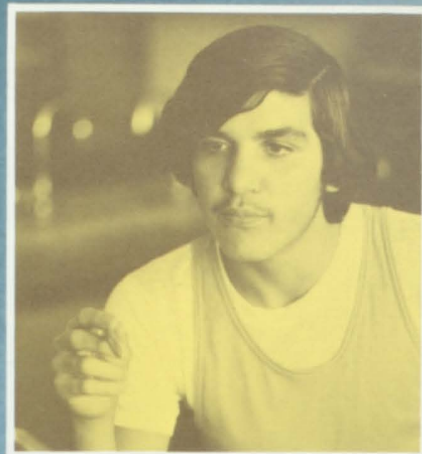

the microcosim of life was formed on a barren world and from this minute existence developed the seeds of many cultures.

and from the youth of spring, to the adolescence of summer, we learn the orange is not the apple, the tree is not the bush, and the white man is not the black man.

and our lives flow as the
seasons: the summers,
the winters, the springs,
the falls, bending,
altering our life styles
and seperating our cultures.

and as we are temporarily fixed in time reflecting on the present, the past and the future, we are suddenly aware of our presence.

and our classmates, our teachers, united in a continuing effort all striving to further mankind in some way.
but what makes our school unique, what makes barringer stand apart from the others?

we are a melting pot of individuals from many varied races, colors and religions all swirled together; a world within a world and our experiences blend to form building blocks for us to make decisions, to sensitize our relations, to focus our intentions, to shape our future.

and when we have surpassed the colorful fall and the twinkling winter of our lives, our memory will perhaps linger on these times we now pass through, cherishing them for Barringer is our Athenaeum.

Coach West explains: if you can't sick him trip him.

Top Right: Harry Kidd on the jump he's just unstoppable.

Coach Fritzsimmon explains: "It's not all that bad, you win a few, you lose a few".

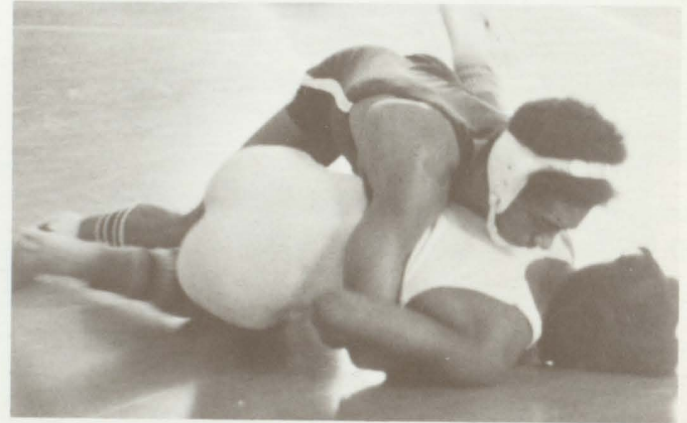

It was a hard match, Ref, but nothing I couldn't handle.

Danny King pins him flatter than a nail.

The Hinton always meditates before a match.

The Hinton..141 lb. Aries.

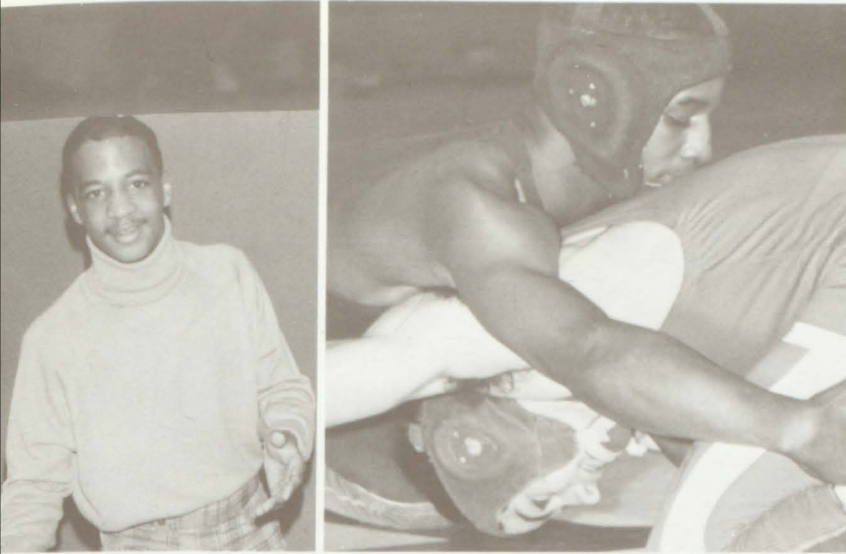

Is that good enough, Coach?

In Memoriam

TO: Joseph Crecco
Jack Poliseo
William Greenfield

From: Barringer's class of 1975

Let us all take a moment of our time to remember those who were once dear to us. Time is but a temporary thing which no one likes to think of it as so. We live our lives to the best of our abilities, we face up to our goals, our failures and our successes. Our lives are like pastels on a piece of paper, we live them and they soon fade away. But we still can't forget about those who left their impressions and reflections on this world.

A vintage, slightly faded photograph of a multi-lane road curving through a landscape. In the background, a large concrete bridge with a metal railing spans across the scene. The road has white lane markings, and there are trees and bushes along the roadside. The overall tone is nostalgic and serene.

And so our moment in eternity is behind us as we move forward in time

We now realize our future role in life is an outgrowth of the characters we have portrayed in the past.

Like impressions on moist sands we have been touched by varied personalities around us which has structured our thinking and influenced our values.

And as a caterpillar sheds its cocoon so do we feel our time has come to free ourselves.

We must soar like a bee on surge like the morning ocean to find the true meaning of life.

As we approach our new independence our
close friendships ties
become faded and our school family becomes weaker.

Our intention is to find ourselves and the world around us.

We Seek
To Discover
To Explore
To Know

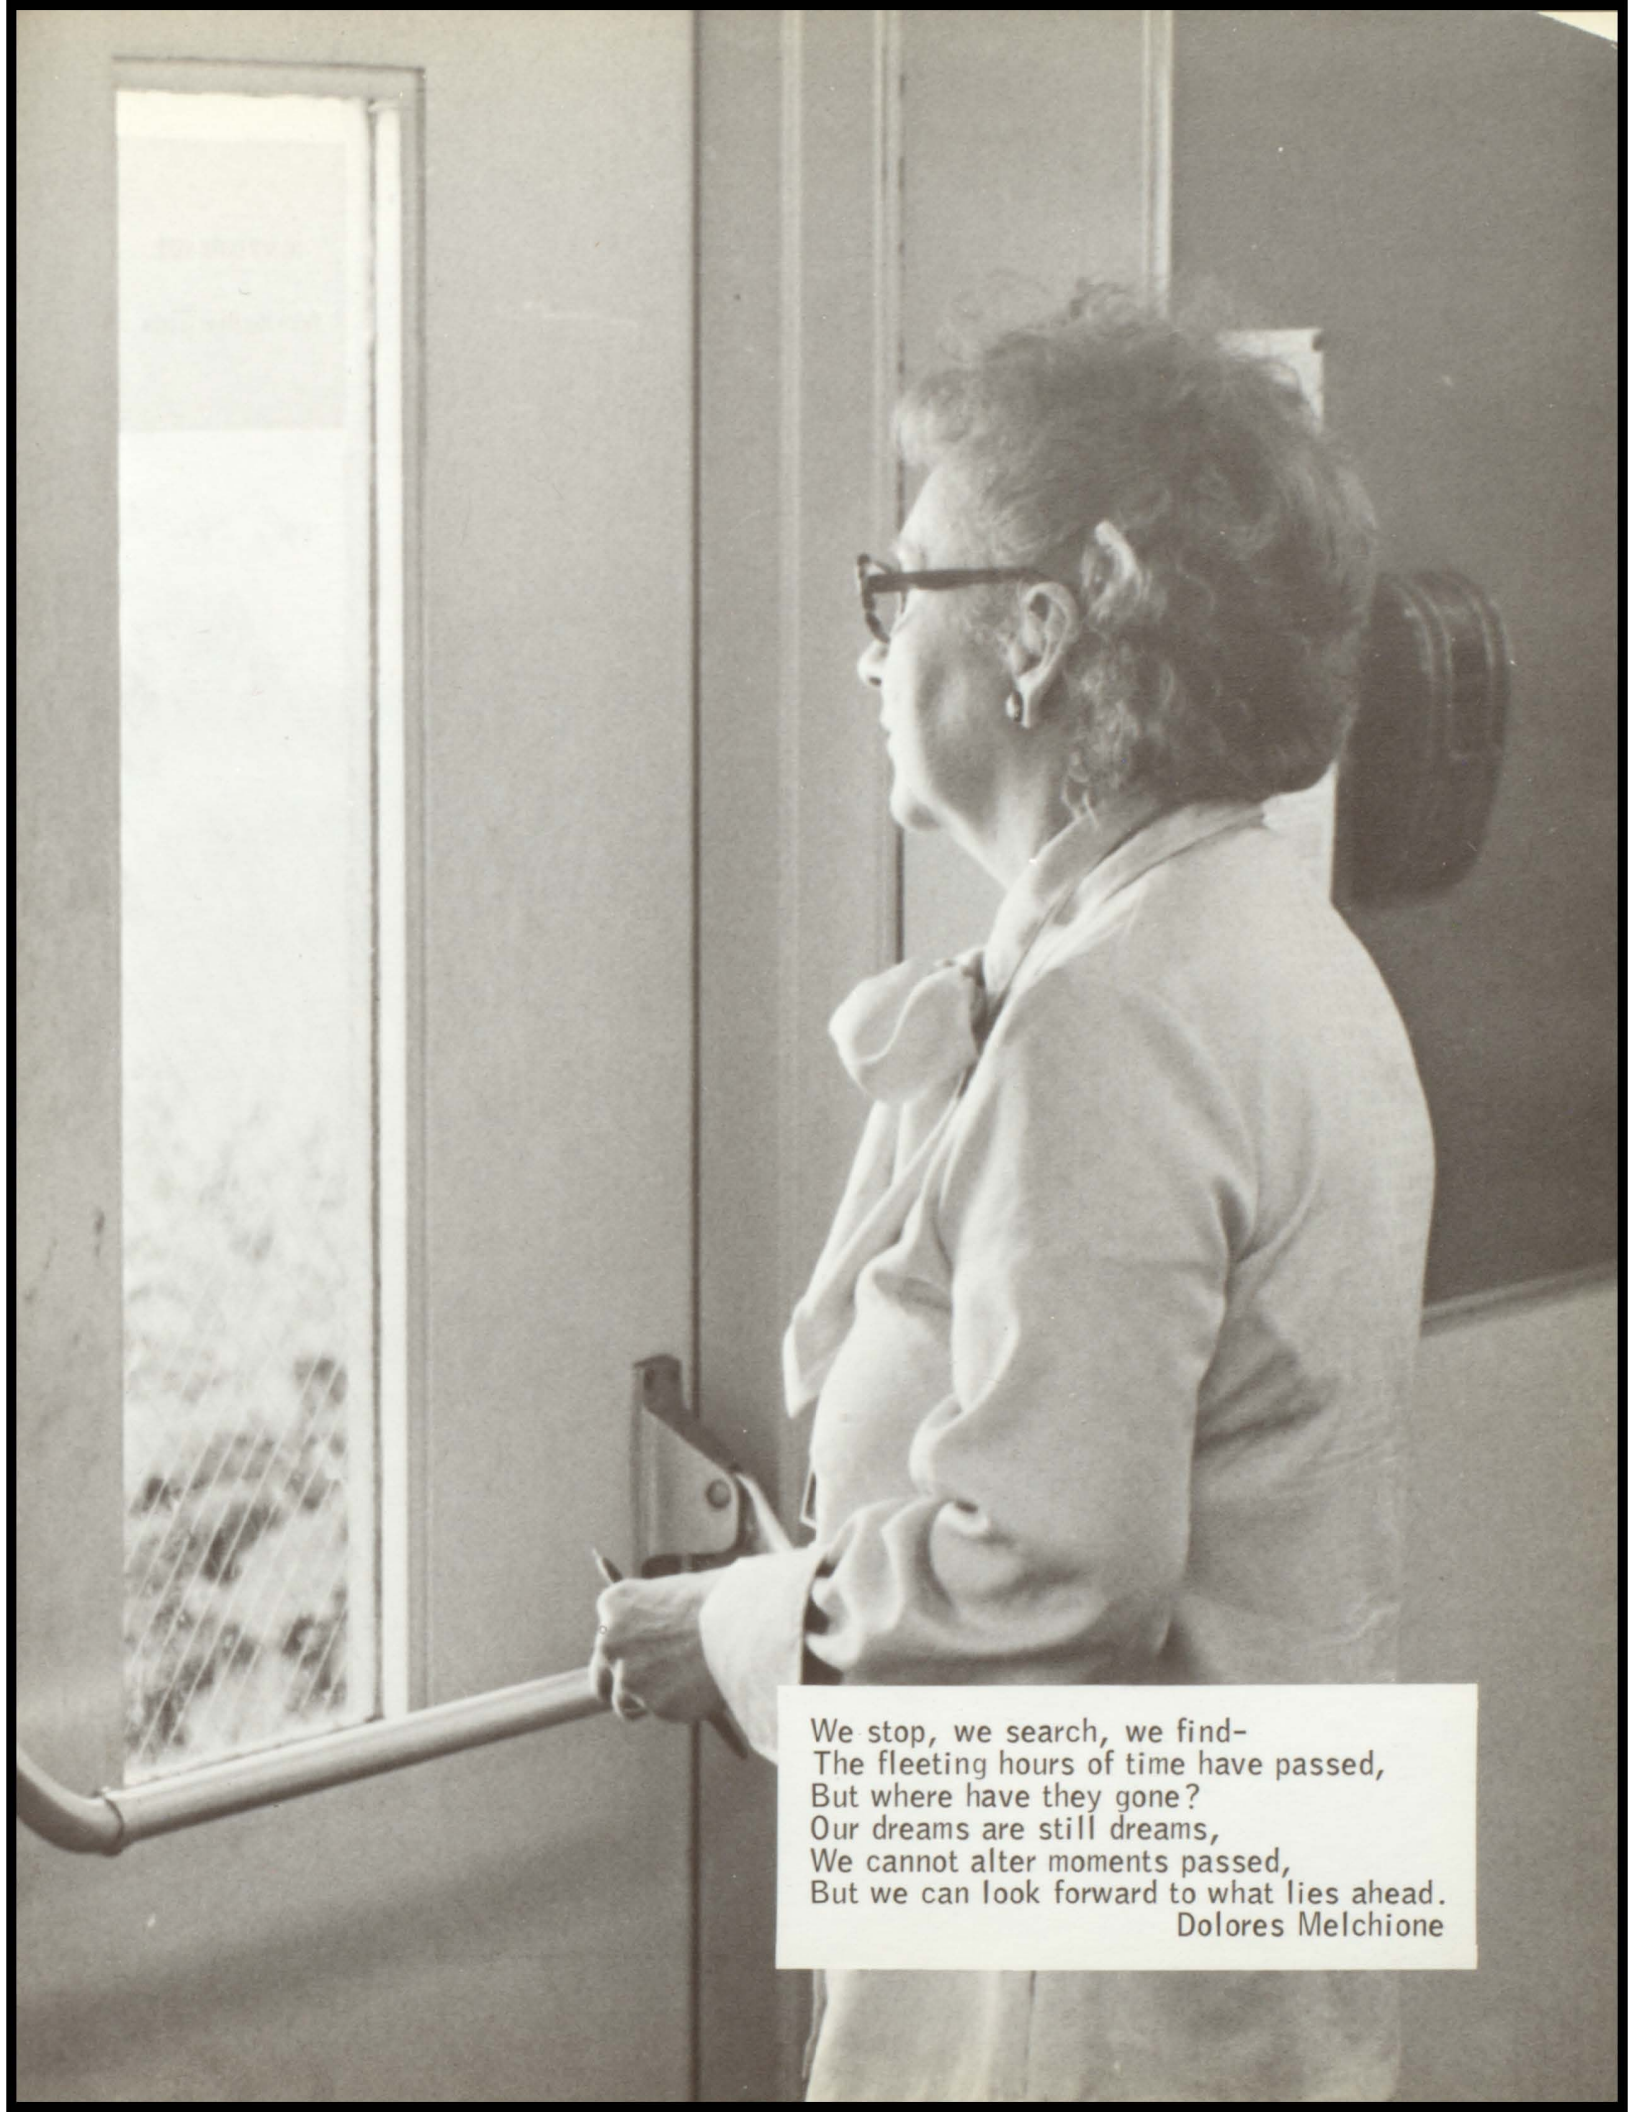

The easiest thing in the world to do is quit when things get rough.
to give up trying and to say that you've have had enough.
To lose your faith when skies are gray and troubles will not end,
Then turn your eyes upon the ground, where all your hopes descend.
To admit you are a failure and to seek a helping hand, then forever go about with failure as your brand.
But, if you, like some, must waiver and your hopes and dreams are dying,
you can still become victorious, if you could only keep on trying.

B.D.

We stop, we search, we find-
The fleeting hours of time have passed,
But where have they gone?
Our dreams are still dreams,
We cannot alter moments passed,
But we can look forward to what lies ahead.
Dolores Melchione

THE WORLD WAS ONCE PURE AND SO WERE THE RIVERS, THE BIRDS ONCE FLEW HIGH AND BLUE WAS THE SKY, THE FLOWERS ONCE GREW AND THE WIND FREELY BLEW, THE FOREST ONCE WAS GREEN AND LIFE WAS A DREAM, HAVE ALL THESE THINGS GONE FROM OUR SIGHT, OR IS IT BECAUSE THE AIR LOOKS LIKE NIGHT?
